

Gent, 1 October 2013

Dear,

Innogenetics N.V. changes name to Fujirebio Europe N.V.

We are very pleased to announce that Innogenetics N.V. officially becomes Fujirebio Europe N.V. as from October 1st 2013.

Before October 1st 2013:

After October 1st 2013:

The Innogenetics logo and name on the labels and products will therefore also be progressively replaced by the Fujirebio logo and name. The worldwide implementation of our new company name and our new logo on our products will take some time but we intend to have it fully implemented by January 2015.

Our name change to Fujirebio Europe is in fact the next logical step in an integration process that was launched by the acquisition in September 2010 of Innogenetics N.V. by Fujirebio Inc., a subsidiary of Japanese Miraca Holdings. This is an important and symbolic new chapter in the already rich life of our company. We are now becoming a fully integrated member of an international group already widely recognized as a key player in oncology for routine and novel markers and which also has a strong presence and reputation in infectious disease testing, both in clinical labs and blood banks, in Japan. The Fujirebio group also has a long, successful history of providing reliable immunoassay IVD products to the market.

Our website address changes to www.fujirebio-europe.com and when contacting us by email you should start replacing "@innogenetics.com" by "@fujirebio-europe.com" in any of our old addresses.

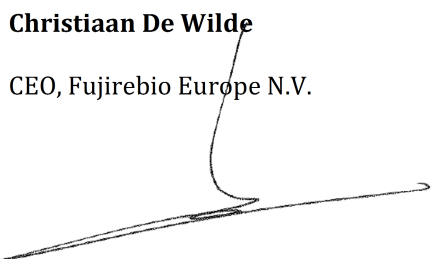

Except for these changes everything else will remain the same including our products, product names, contact details (phone numbers, fax numbers, postal addresses), VAT number and the shareholding structure of Innogenetics N.V. (now Fujirebio Europe N.V.). It also goes without saying that our processes, our quality system and our constant focus on providing our customers with products and services of the finest quality remain the same.

Thank you for your support and for being a loyal Innogenetics partner. We look forward to continuing to work with you under our new company name, Fujirebio Europe.

Sincerely yours,

Christiaan De Wilde
